LINEN SHOWER FOR MISS MAUDE DUNCAN.

Miss Katharine Loftin gave a linen shower at her home on Guillemarde Friday afternoon, for Miss Maude Duncan, that was a very pretty and delightful affair and showered the popular bride-elect with a quantity of desirable linen in embroidered, drawn work and lace insetting that will add beauty and worth to her future home, and remind of girlhood days.

Miss Loftin invited seventeen young matron and girl friends to be present and was a most successful and inspiring hostess.

A delightful luncheon was served, at which everything was carried out in green and white. The center piece was a large fern dish filled with maiden hair ferns and white roses, round which hid in the green leaves were a thimble, ring and penny.

Amid much merriment Miss Effie Duncan drew the penny, Miss Estelle Jennings the thimble and Miss Harriman the ring.

Those present besides the hostess Miss Loftin and the "showeree" Miss Duncan, were Mrs. Charles Rice, Mrs. Dan Shepard, Mrs. Leslie Brooks, Mrs. W. W. Weekly, Mrs. C. R. Johnson, Mrs. A. M. McMillan, Miss Harriman, Miss Abbie Brooks, Miss Virgie Klusmeyer, Miss Josie Roberts, Miss Jessie Bennett, Miss Estelle Jennings, Miss Effie Duncan, Miss Mayme Willis Duncan, and Miss Buda Day.

Miss Josie and Miss Mabel Loftin gracefully served.

ELY-BULLOCK WEDDING

Mr. John William Bullock, Jr., of this city was married in the First Baptist church in Montgomery, Wednesday, April 18 to Miss Ida Katharine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Ely of that city. Rev. Charles A. Stakely officiating. The church was tastefully decorated.

The bride was gowned in a robe of white satin trimmed with handsome old lace. Her only ornament was a necklace with diamond pendant gift of the bridegroom. Her long tulle veil was fastened in her beautiful hair by a spray of bride rose buds and foliage and she carried a shower of the same roses and white tulle and was an ideal bride in appearance and manner—very lovely withal.

Her sister Miss Claire Ely was

THE SCHOOL GIRL'S PRINCESS FROCK.

The princess, which we have always been wont to associate with the graceful curves of the more mature figure, has this spring invaded the field of misses' wear, but so effectively has the mode been carried out that it has proved a most becoming style to the immature figure of the growing girl. The double skirt, with its broad-stitched tucks, is cut separate from the baby waist with a shallow pointed yoke; the two then joined at the waistline and shirred into a deep girle effect, which gives a necessary fullness over the hips and bust. There is no bodice lining in the waist, the girle portion being adjusted over a princess featherbone foundation, after each shir has been stitched through on the machine to keep it from slipping, which would also take the place of the corset. The full sleeve of elbow length is gathered into a rather deep cuff, trimmed with a cream eyelet embroidery, the exact shade of the batiste. This embroidery also outlines the yoke, back and front, and edges the round Dutch neck. The closing is in the back.

her maid of honor, a dainty vision in pale rose radium silk over pale rose taffeta, carrying a shower of bridesmaid roses.

The other maids were Miss Anne Calloway of La Grange and Miss Annie Peetner, Miss Sara Luckey of Birmingham and Miss Annie Flinn, all wearing white frocks and carrying armful of bridesmaid roses.

Mr. Ely Calloway of La Grange, and Mr. John Ely brother of the bride of Knoxville, were the ushers. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Richard Carroll of Pensacola as best man, with Mr. Charles Russell of Columbus, Ga., and Mr. Will Amorine as groomsmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Bullock left soon after the ceremony and are now at their home in this city where they are receiving the felicitations of their friends.

Captain and Mrs. Ely entertained for their daughter's bridal party previous to the wedding in a handsome manner at their home on Hull street which was delightfully decorated with Spring flowers in pink and white, beautiful growing and blooming plants being abundant.

Among the many handsome presents received was a massive silver water service from the Order of Railway Conductors, of which the bride's father is an honored charter member. The goblets and tray bore the bride's initials and on the pitcher is engraved:

"From Montgomery Division 98, O. R. C. to Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bullock, Jr., April 18, 1906."

DR. WEEKS' FINE SERMON TO THE KNIGHT TEMPLARS.

Among the many beautiful local Easter services that were held in the Gadsden M. E. church of which Rev. T. A. Rogers is pastor, was unique. And the scene has impressed with unusual earnestness those who had the privilege of being present.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Sylvester Weeks especially to the Knight Templars, about thirty of whom had a special car to convey them, and as they marched from the car to the church they themselves made a beautiful picture and one of which Pensacola may well feel proud, all wearing new Knight Templar uniforms and carrying new banners.

The church was superbly decorated—the pulpit barked with massed palms, roses and lilies and the whole front of the big pipe organ was covered with roses, while the music was appropriately choice, and ringing with devotional Easter joy.

When the retired "minister beloved," Dr. Weeks, in his long white prelate robe and cape, with its blue stole and silver embroidered emblems, and wearing the little pointed cap, approached the pulpit and lifted his hands in invocation, causing the wide white sleeves to flow in graceful lines from his arms, everyone in hearing agreed with the involuntary exclamation of "He looks like a saint."

Dr. Weeks, in speaking to his subject—"Resurrection, the Antidote to Death"—took his text from Philipians iii, twenty and twenty-first verses, and divided his subject into three parts. First—"Teachings of Nature." Second—"Deductions of Reason." Third—"Proof from the Scriptures."

And the sermon he preached was so earnestly eloquent of profound study, logical reasoning, and spiritual truth, as must have touched with conviction the most indifferent hearer.

Perhaps the strongest evidence of its impressiveness lies in the fact that it is still a theme of earnest and thoughtful conversation among those who heard it.

Miss Isabel Unkles of London, England, left Thursday to spend the summer with friends in North Carolina, after spending a delightful winter with her sister Mrs. James A. Donnelly the exceptionally charming wife of the British vice-consul, and

KRESS

5-10 AND 25 CENT STORE

Tenth Anniversary Sale---Ten Days!

For ten days, from the 18th to the 28th, we are celebrating the Tenth Anniversary of the founding of the first Kress store. The event means much to us, and we intend to make it memorable with you.

Our position was indeed uncommanding when we opened that first store in Memphis ten years ago this April. We are to-day powerful in the buying power of our fifty thriving establishments. There must be a reason back of this remarkable development.

The reason is there—MERIT. The business was started on merit, developed on merit, and will continue to grow only so long as that word is foremost in the minds of the Kress people—and none know this better than we.

In all transactions, from the smallest purchase you make from us to the largest we make from manufacturers, we always remember that merit is the foremost principle. We know too well that the permanency we strive for comes only through a square deal at all times to all people.

Meriting your trade meant, on our part, study of local needs, service, standard, regularity and responsibility. And our adherence to these principles means nothing if not value-for-price, such as no ordinary dealer can give.

In the immense purchases we have just made for our fifty stores we were more than ever impressed with our masterful position in the world's great markets.

We shall take pains to pass that impression on to you through many low-cut retail prices.

If we should make no profit on this sale, but succeed in "driving home" "Kress merit," we shall be content.

The following values prove that we have not been in business for ten years without results—for you:
